Dear Scitovsky,

Thank you very much for sending me your book "Welfare and Competition" which I shall undoubtedly read with much interest. I am looking forward to meeting you somewhere in Europe !

An error has been made by your publisher. He sent me 2 copies of your book, one being meant for somebody else. Unfortunately the address leaflet of the other copy has now got lost here. I wonder whether you could kindly indicate to me the address, then I shall take care of its being mailed. In the copy itself you evidently only wrote the first name of the person in question. This is why I can't find it out myself.

With best personal wishes,

yours very sincerely,
