Dear Mr Umnithan,

It must have been a disappointment for you that we could not admit you yesterday. What I suggest to you is that you should devote part of your time already to working on your thesis with Professor Landheer and another part to exercises in economic logic. I am especially thinking of exercises in the use of Keynesian economics as given in simple text-books and some good articles. I want to recommend as a text-book Mr Dillard's book "The Economics of John Maynard Keynes". I hope that you will get by so doing more confidence in your insight in these matters and will be able to pass the examination in December.

With best personal regards,
