

February 1950

Professor Norman S. Buchanan,
The Rockefeller Foundation,
European Office,
20, rue de la Baume,
Paris (8e)

Dear Professor Buchanan,

Thank you for yours of February 24th. May I at once invite you to lunch for Friday at 1 p.m.? I shall take the liberty of coming to your hotel at that time ^{and} propose to have lunch at Lensvelt, quite near to the hotel. I asked Mr van den Berg, our secretary, also to be present.

In case you are not free at lunch time or have not yet arrived, we could also arrange for dinner if that suits you better. In that case I shall be at yours at 6 p.m. since I have somebody coming to see me at 8 o'clock.

Yours very sincerely,

February 1950

Paris (8e)
20, rue de la Baume,
European Office,
The Rockefeller Foundation,
Professor Norman S. Buchanan,

Dear Professor Buchanan,

Thank you for yours of February 24th. May I at once invite you to lunch for Friday at 1 p.m.? I shall take the liberty of coming to your hotel at that time and propose to have lunch at Lensvelt, quite near to the hotel. I asked Mr van den Berg, our secretary, also to be present.

In case you are not free at lunch time or have not yet arrived, we could also arrange for dinner if that suits you better. In that case I shall be at yours at 6 p.m. since I have somebody coming to see me at 8 o'clock.

Yours very sincerely,